

AI Assignment: Generate 5 MCQs for a CSS course. Each ...

1. 1. Which property is used in CSS for setting the background color of an element?
2. 2. What does "flex" refer to when discussing Flexbox layouts in CSS? A. A typeface used for better readability on web pages B. An alignment method that allows elements within a container to be placed and sized flexibly based on the available space C. The process of optimizing website code for faster loading times D. A property related to setting colors in CSS gradients
3. 3. Which selector is used when you want to style all images with alt text "logo" within a webpage? B. `.logo-img {background-image: url('logo.png');}` C. `#logo_images{content:url('logo.png');}` D. `div#logo > p>a::before`, where logo is the text of an anchor element within a paragraph inside a div with id "logo"
4. 4. Which CSS property can be used to create space between elements? D. gap or space (no specific properties)
5. 5. What does the "rem" unit in CSS stand for and when is it typically used? A. Remarkable, a special type of measurement to emphasize text size on web pages B. Relative, based on root element font-size C. Responsive, adjusts dynamically with screen sizes D. Resolution, measures the clarity and sharpness of images in CSS

Due Date: 12/5/2025, 6:16:00 AM